HP Software Testing Foundation course

Course description

This course covers HP software testing tools. It gives you the opportunity to use the software tools and apply the theory that has been learned in class.
As classes are delivered over a period of several months, you have the choice to select a class schedule of evening or weekend sessions, allowing you to study in parallel with existing school or work commitments. At the conclusion of the programme, you can take an exam to verify the skills you have learned and can earn an HP Accredited Technical Professional (ATP) certification, in HP Testing Tools, if you pass the exam. The certification is part of the HPExpertOne Program and is recognized globally.
